FIRE COMPANY HOLDS ELECTION

J. Clifford Wierman is Re-Elected Chief. Jesse Snyder the New President. Relief Fund Growing. Plan Banquet and Dance.

Keen interest was manifested Tuesday evening in the annual election of officers for the Gettysburg Fire Company. Of a total membership of about seventy all but ten were present and took part in the balloting for chief and assistant.

There were four nominees for chief, J. C. Wierman, C. Tyson Tipton, J. Harry Holtzworth and E. C. Tawney. The first ballot resulted Wierman 25, Tipton 14, Holtzworth 13, Tawney 6. Mr. Holtzworth and Mr. Tawney withdrew and the second ballot resulted Wierman 30, Tipton 28, Amos Weikert 1. Mr. Wierman was declared elected and starts upon his second year as chief of the company.

For assistants there were four nominees, the two polling the largest votes to be chosen. M. A. Miller received 36 votes, T. J. Hardy 31, Moses Bair 29, and Benton Gilbert 17. Mr. Miller was accordingly elected first assistant chief and Mr. Hardy second assistant chief.

The other officers elected were, president, Jesse Snyder; vice president, J. C. Hoke; secretary, James B. Aumen; financial secretary, E. G. Schriver; treasurer, Oscar Lupp.

The company's finances were reported in excellent shape, a total of $1016 having been accumulated in the special fund for the relief of firemen injured or disabled in the performance of their duties, while the general fund has a balance of about $250. A committee of five was appointed to arrange for a dance in Xavier Hall.

The annual banquet will be held on Wednesday evening, January 28, in the hall of the Order of Independent Americans. The invitations will include all members and their wives, honorary members, the cast in the last play, Rev. W. F. Boyle who allowed the use of Xavier Hall for rehearsals, and one member from the family of each deceased fireman.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. William F. Codori for their kindness in providing refreshments of soup, sandwiches and coffee to the cold and benumbed firemen immediately after the fire Monday afternoon at the home of Jesse Walter on York street.

IN NEED OF HELP

Tenant on Twining Farm in Need of Assistance.

William V. Ammerman, who lost almost all his personal property in the fire which destroyed the tenant house on the Twining farm near town Monday night, is sorely in need of assistance. He has a family of five children and now has lost all his furniture, has no visible assets and no home. A number of Gettysburg people have become interested in the plight of the family and J. G. McIlhenny, Penrose Myers, and Jacob Eckert have circulated a subscription list for their relief. A very liberal response has followed but many people have not been seen and The Times will receive further donations, turning them over to the committee in charge.

LOCAL BANKS ASK FOR MEMBERSHIP

Four National Banks in Adams County Apply for Membership in Federal Reserve Bank. Five Other Considering the Plan.

Four Adams County banks have made application for membership in the Federal Reserve Bank, accepting the terms of the National Banking Law as recently passed by Congress. They are the Biglerville National Bank, the Arendtsville National Bank, the Bendersville National Bank and the First National Bank of York Springs.

Practically all the other national banks in the county are also considering the plan, the following reporting that they have the matter under advisement, the Gettysburg National Bank, First National Bank of Gettysburg, Fairfield National Bank, Littlestown National Bank, First National Bank of East Berlin.

Under the law, a bank becoming a stockholder in the Federal Reserve Bank to be established in its territory must subscribe for stock in the Federal Reserve Bank to the extent of six per cent. of its capital stock and surplus, and this enables the bank to secure money from the Federal Reserve Bank, under proper restrictions. The national banks are also enabled to loan upon improved farm lands to the extent of 50 per cent. of the value of such farm land. The national banks before were never allowed to loan money upon farm land.

Again, under the proposed law, national banks will be made virtually trust companies, in that the national banks can act as trustees, executors, etc., excepting that the banks cannot act as guardians and receivers.

Under the Federal Banking Law, the retirement of the circulation notes of national banks which are members of the Federal Reserve Bank can be brought about, and then United States bonds which are now held as security for its circulation will be retired at par.

SAVED FAMILY

County Man Sees Burning Home from Railroad Train.

W. E. Bowers, a son of George Bowers, of Tyrone township, and a nephew of H. H. Hershey, of York Springs, saved a family from being burned to death near Shippensburg on Sunday morning.

Mr. Bowers is a freight brakeman on the Philadelphia and Reading and Sunday morning when his train was passing Chambersburg Junction he discovered flames coming from the lower floor of the James Eutsey home. Stopping the train, he hastened to the house just in time to rescue Mr. and Mrs. Eutsey and seven or eight children from cremation.

It was with some effort that Brakeman Bowers awakened them. Seven small children were dropped from the second-story window into his arms, but in the excitement the mother became bewildered and overlooked one, Earl, 5 years old. She leaped from the building with her husband just in time to escape the falling roof under which the child was burned.

TWO INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

Automobile Runs down Little Child in McSherrystown. Edgemont Man Gets his Arm Caught in Rapidly Revolving Circular Saw.

Chester Gouker, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban W. Gouker, of McSherrystown, was struck by an automobile Tuesday evening and knocked to the ground, sustaining a laceration of the scalp requiring nine stitches to close.

The car was driven by Peter F. Smith, of McSherrystown, and the little fellow was hit just as he was crossing the 'pike in front of the W. H. Frock grocery store, near Sand Hill.

Mr. Smith stopped the car, picked up the child and took him to his home, after which Dr. George L. Rice was called and gave the necessary surgical attention. Under his care the boy is recovering.

No blame whatever is placed on the driver of the automobile as the child ran directly in front of the car and Mr. Smith was unable to stop the machine in time to avoid the accident.

ARM CAUGHT BY SAW

Samuel Hartman, a farmer residing near Edgemont, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon while operating a circular saw.

Hartman and a neighbor were sawing wood on the farmer's land when the accident happened. Hartman was feeding a heavy log through the saw when in some manner the right sleeve of his coat became entangled in a fast revolving wheel. In an instant his arm was jerked against the sharp teeth of the saw. Another minute and the member would have been cut in twain. The blade was tearing rapidly into the flesh when the cloth parted. The man fell back fainting, and a stream of blood spurted from the jagged, torn wound.

The injured man's shirt was hastily torn into strips with which to bandage his arm until he could get to the office of a physician and receive medical attention.

Over a dozen stitches were required in the operation.

MINSTRELS COMING

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels Coming here.

An occasional visit of a minstrel show is a good thing for the theatre goer. Wearied by problem plays, melodramas and comedies, the stately presence and sparkling conversation of the interloper appeals restfully to him, while the familiar quips of the end man are hailed as old friends returning from a long journey, and it is all very lovely. This statement is especially true of as good a minstrel show as John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels are presenting, which comes to the Walter's Theatre Friday night, January 23. There is just enough newness about it to please, and just enough of the old-time flavor to relieve it from any charge of iconoclasm. And the fact that the past sixteen years demonstrated enthusiastic approval of every item of the bill, would indicate that John W. Vogel's aggregation has made good.—advertisement

MANY BURIED IN LAVA AND ASHES

Loss of Life by Volcanic Eruption
Not Known.

KAGOSHIMA IS IN RUINS

Whole Island in Southern Japan is Under Volcanic Dust of Varying Depths.

Tokio, Jan. 15.—Official reports of the disaster in southern Japan brought out the following general features:

The small island of Sakura is covered with a layer of lava and ashes,
in places several feet deep. Beneath it lie many bodies, whose number will probably never be known. Any estimate of the dead must include a large number of refugees who were drowned while trying to swim from Sakura to the city of Kagoshima.

Kagoshima, last week a prosperous
town of 60,000 inhabitants, is in ruins.
Even stone buildings collapsed under the weight of the hot ashes.

Simultaneously with the eruption of the volcano of Sakura-Jima, there occurred an eruption of Yariatake, which threw a cloud of ashes over Matsumoto,
but did no serious damage.

The eruption of Sakura-Jima is gradually subsiding. A heavy rainfall is clearing the atmosphere and thereby assisting the work of relief.

The entire island of Kishiu, an area of 3000 square miles, is covered with volcanic ash in varying depth.

At Kumamoto, north of Kagoshima, over 1000 refugees have arrived and the authorities are faced with the difficulty of housing and feeding the sufferers
from the disaster, the full extent of which has not yet been told.

Kagoshima, the nearest large city to Sakura, while it suffered great damage
from the earthquakes, does not appear to have sustained a severe loss of life. H. Ijii, former Japanese minister to China, who lives in Kagoshima,
sent a dispatch to the foreign office,
in which he said ten persons have been killed and thirty injured.

Sakura-Jima, at the height of its eruption, is pictured in reports as a terrifying mountain of fire. The air for miles around is thick with ashes and smoke. The police and soldiers of Kagoshima, soon after the disturbance began, made many rescues from the island of Sakura.

The people at first did not seem to realize their danger and were slow in trying to escape. It is feared that many were killed before reaching the seashore. Thousands, pursued by a rain of fiery stones, knelt on the beach, half submerged in water and gesticulating wildly to the steamers and fishing boats for aid. One small steamer saved 300 persons, while the other boats also did noble rescue work. The cruiser Tone reported that Sakura had been entirely evacuated.

A party of refugees from the island of Sakura arrived at Miyazaki. They reported that the inhabitants of 300
houses, composing the village of Seto,
on the island, lost their way in trying to reach the seashore and probably all perished together. The refugees declare that hundreds were drowned in trying to swim across the Gulf of Kagoshima. They add that the volcano of Sakura-Jima has completely changed its form, several new craters having opened. The hall of ashes ceased at Miyazaki after lasting thirty-six hours.

The whole volcanic range of Kishiu burst into dangerous activity with startling suddenness after having been quiescent for more than a century.

Hundreds of earthquake shocks were felt all through the islands. Railroads, telegraph lines and telephone lines were destroyed, and nothing like an adequate account of the disaster has yet been received in Tokio.

According to dispatches from Mitoyo-shi the main loss of life was apparently on the island of Sakura. After having been dormant for 130 years the volcano, without warning, burst into activity and poured destruction on the villages on its slopes and base.

The eruption began in the forenoon of last Sunday, according to one of the survivors, who managed to escape
from Kagoshima and arrived at Nagasaki. Many of the islanders hastened to the mainland, a couple of miles distant,
abandoning their homes in terror,
but by far the greater number had no time to escape.

The whole mountain seemed to split. New craters opened up in a score of places and lava and blazing ashes came down the slopes, igniting everything in their path, until the entire island was a mass of flames.

the progress of a fire in East Federal lying on a bed with the skull battered

in. An axe was lying nearby. The sum of $1.55 was found on the body.

FOSTER AND GIRL AGAIN IN JAIL

Are Arrested as Violators of Mobile Ordinance.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 15.—Delilah F.
Bradley, the principal witness in the white slave case against Joel M. Foster, the millionaire, of Pemberton, N. J., is confined in a local sanitarium,
almost a complete nervous wreck, following the sensational arrest of herself and Foster after he had waived examination at the hearing before United States Commissioner Richard
Jones, Jr., to appear before the federal court in Mobile next May on the charge of fornication and adultery.

It is not known when the girl will be able to leave the sanitarium and go back to her people with her father, Harry E. Bradley.

The arrest of Foster and the girl
was brought about through the boldness of Foster in trying to meet the girl.

Miss Bradley was kept at the police station in the chief's private office for more than two hours before she was sent away to the institution, and the two bondsmen that furnished bail for Foster, W. P. Mayer, formerly of Chicago, and G. R. Ellison, were required to furnish affidavits as to their qualifications from a property standpoint.

Foster, in a small cell, spent his time in joking with colored prisoners.
When he was brought down to the guard room and realized the difficulty
his lawyers were having in making bond for him, he leaned up against the railing and wept.

The chief of police left orders with Foster's attorneys that if the man made any attempt to see the girl he would arrest him again as a dangerous and suspicious character, and the court would be asked to make his bond
a heavy one.

MAY SUE J. P. MORGAN

Virginia Legislator Demands Return
of Martha Washington's Will.
Richmond, Va., Jan. 15.—Shortly after Lieutenant Governor J. Taylor El-lyson called the state senate to order, Senator R. E. Thornton, of Fairfax, introduced a bill directing Governor Mann to communicate with J. P. Morgan and to demand the return to Virginia of the will of Martha Washington, which was taken from the archives of Fairfax county during the war.

The bill directed that, in case of failure to secure the paper by courtesy, the governor, in the name of the commonwealth, shall institute suit in the United States court against J. P.
Morgan, Jr., to recover the stolen property.

An effort to have the bill placed on its final passage failed, and the measure will come up in due course of time.

FAINT "S. O. S." CALL HEARD

Wreckage From Vessel in Distress
Drifts Ashore—Ships Rush to Her Aid.

Yarmouth, N. S., Jan. 15.—The Royal Mail packet Cobaquid, still clinging to the Trinity Ledges, with the waves breaking over her, was sighted by a lone fisherman just as the fog lifted.

All hands are safe. Nearly all of those on board have been landed at Yarmouth. The steamer Westport brought seventy-one ashore and the others came on the steamer John L.
Cann.

The decks of the Cobaquid are awash.
If the present weather continues the Cobaquid will hold together. She is heaving off shore. The Cobaquid went ashore at 6.15 a. m. Tuesday. The Trinity Ledge, where she struck, is six miles off the mainland of Nova Scotia and fourteen miles from the port of Yarmouth.

The Cobaquid's masts and funnels are standing, though terrific seas are sweeping over the ship. The ship's cargo, including many barrels of molasses, is coming ashore.

The wreckage includes an extension ladder, a hatch combing, companion-way fixtures and a sign board bearing the inscription "Keep clear of twin screws." As the Cobaquid is a twin screw boat it is thought the sign came from her stern.

Radiograms had been sent out from St. John ordering all ships that could be reached to hasten to the Cobaquid's assistance. The steamship John L. Cann was sent out from Westport and a tug was sent out from Westport
and a tug was dispatched from Yarmouth.

The Trinity Ledges, on which the Cobaquid stranded, are a collection of jagged rocks just out of water on the eastern side of the entrance to the Bay of Fundy, and fourteen miles north of Yarmouth.

They are more than five miles off
the regular course into the bay from the southward and eastward, and the Cobaquid was carried on to them by the westerly gale.

The faint purr of an "S. O. S." call from the missing Cobaquid was picked up at several points in the Bay of Fundy early on Wednesday morning.

The Canada Northern liner, Royal George, caught the cry of distress
three times and heard the steamship Lady Laurier replying, asking for the location of the Cobaquid.

WILSON WANTS RATE DECISION

Believes Early Action on Railroad Matter Important.

Washington, Jan. 15.—It has become known here since President Wilson's return that to more than one close friend he has recently expressed the opinion that speedy decision by the interstate commerce commission on the application for permission to advance railway rates is highly important.

It is not intimated anywhere that in any way the president has taken sides for or against the application.
It is understood, indeed, that professing to have no special knowledge of the matter, he has formed no judgment upon it.

He feels qualified to form a judgment as to the wisdom of needless delay in arriving at a conclusion upon the subject. He has formed that judgment and has expressed it unmistakably.

DIVORCED; A SUICIDE

J. M. Jordan, Chicago Lawyer, Son-in-Law of Judge Grosscup, Shoots Self.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—J. M. Jordan, a lawyer, son-in-law of former United States District Judge Peter S. Grosscup, shot and killed himself in the Palmer house here. He is thought to have also taken poison before shooting himself.

Jordan was married to Miss Katherine Grosscup in 1913. She obtained a divorce from him in San Diego, Cal., in March, 1913, charging desertion.

Alexander H. Heyman, a law partner of the unfortunate man, said he believed Jordan's act was the result of despondency over his divorce.

"Mrs. Jordan obtained the divorce on the grounds of desertion and non-support," said Mr. Heyman. "Mr. Jordan did not contest the suit. He had been despondent ever since. Mrs.
Jordan and one daughter, five years old, are now living at Coronado Beach, Cal."

In a note to W. H. Clark, Jordan requested that certain friends be notified, and added: "Forgive my weakness; goodbye."

SAW NEW YORK UPSIDE DOWN

Passengers on Steamship Off Sandy Hook Witness Mirage.

New York, Jan. 15.—Passengers on the steamship Prinz Joachim, waiting off Sandy Hook for the mists to clear, had the extraordinary experience of seeing New York city upside down in a mirage in the vapor raised by the cold weather.

Word of this was sent in a wireless message to the Hamburg-American line offices from Captain Tarnow. The message read:

"Anchored off Sandy Hook. We have experienced a strange phenomenon. It is a mirage. Pilot Pratt, on board, refuses to bring ship up until vapor lifts
New York city is seen upside down."

In marine circles it was explained that the water in the harbor was warmer than the air, and the resulting vapor made possible the appearance of a mirage to those on board a vessel anchored as far out as the Hook.

Utter Sounds While Still in Shell.

So long ago as 1899 Dr. Voeltzkow noticed that unhatched Madagascaricrocodiles uttered a cry from the egg at a considerable depth and that any shock, as a heavy tread near the egg, caused the baby crocodile to produce this sound "with the mouth
closed, as we produce hicough

female crocodile, when she visits the nest, that they want her aid, whereupon she scrapes the sand away and

NO TANGO AT WHITE HOUSE

But Circumstances Obviate Necessity of the President Ruling

Washington, Jan. 15.—President Wilson apparently is awaiting the verdict of clericals on both sides of the water who are investigating the tango before placing the stamp of his approval or his ban upon this and kindred dances.

All Washington—or at least the major portion of the national capital's society which attended President Wilson's reception to the diplomatic corps, is discussing the manner in which the president evaded the question of whether to tango or not to tango?

When the crowd thinned out, toward midnight, the younger set, who had come to the executive mansion with the expectation of indulging in a modest "hesitation" or tango, waited for the Marine Band to begin the syncopated melodies appropriate for these dances. Marches and Viennese waltzes seemed to be the only music the band could play, and the word was soon passed that the President and Mrs. Wilson thought it best not to have any dancing at this, their first reception.

NUDE WOMAN FROZEN AND MOTHER INSANE

Grey Cats Guard Aged Hermits in Frigid Kitchen.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 15.—Two aged women, mother and daughter, were found seated facing each other in the kitchen of their home in East Orange, near here.

One, her body nude, save for a shawl, was dead. The other was delirious. Four great grey cats, the only companions of the women, who were recluses, sat in a silent row between the two.

When neighbors saw that Mrs. Sarah Jackson, eighty-five years old, and her daughter, Susan, sixty-seven years of age, had not taken the bread and milk from their steps they sent for the police.

The kitchen door was broken in. The old women were found in the freezing air of the kitchen, the daughter seated on a chair, dead, and her mother staring at her from the coal box opposite. The cats were driven away and a doctor sent for.

Then it was learned that Miss Jackson had suffered from dropsy. It is supposed she was taken ill in the night and froze to death, her mother being unable to help her. The mother was taken to the Orange Memorial hospital in a serious condition from shock and exposure.

The authorities are unable, however, to account for the condition of Miss Jackson's body. The only clothing she wore was an old shawl.

"FITZ" WANTS TO BOX AGAIN

"Tony" Biddle Aids Former Champion to Re-enter Ring.

New York, Jan. 15.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former heavy-weight champion boxer of the world, appeared before Justice Seabury in the supreme court and asked through counsel to be permitted to reappear in the ring, a privilege denied him by the state athletic commission.

"When I return to the ring in this town," said Fitzsimmons, "there will be no more foot races or tangoes inside the ropes. What people want is some genuine boxing."

Affidavits were submitted to show that Fitzsimmons is still in good physical trim. "Mike" Donovan, instructor of boxing at the New York Athletic club, set forth that Fitz could meet the best in the ring without any danger. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, of Philadelphia, expressed the same opinion. Fitz is now fifty-three years old.

PROTEST AGAINST MEXICO DEFAULT

May Force U. S. to Assume Collection of Duties.

ADVISED BY BIG BANKERS

Anti-Huerta Faction Declares Dictator's Action Has Shown Financial Weakness of His Government.

Mexico City, Jan. 15.—Representatives of important financial interests protested to Provisional President Huerta against the action of the government in defaulting payment of interest upon the Mexican internal and external loans, declaring "it will alienate the sympathy of foreign powers and is fraught with the gravest results."

That Huerta has unwittingly played into the hands of Provisional President Wilson by deferring payment on government bonds is believed to be one of the probable consequences.

Governments of countries where there have been heavy investments in Mexican bonds are expected to bring pressure upon the United States to intercede and set up financial safeguards in Mexico for the foreign owners of Mexican bonds.

Leaders of the anti-Huerta faction declare that the dictator not only has shown the financial weakness of his government, but has taken a step which will do more than anything else to lead to "some sort of intervention." The possibility exists, it was pointed out, that such pressure may now be brought to bear upon the American government that the United States will have to take charge of the collection of customs at Mexican ports in order to safeguard the foreign funds invested in Mexican securities.

President Huerta was advised by representative of the European bankers to take the action he did. Huerta's decree specified that the suspension of interest payments is for six months, but bankers in Mexico City look for an extension of the time limit.

A formal request for the return to Mexico of General Salvador Mercado, who commanded the Federal troops at Ojinaga, together with his command, who crossed into American territory, is to be made by General Aurelano Blanquet, Mexican minister of war.

Default Stirs Diplomats.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Diplomatic circles are deeply stirred by the announcement from Mexico City that the Huerta government will default in the payment of the interest on its external and internal debt due within the next six months.

Secretary of State Bryan refused to make any comment on Huerta's action, saying he had no official knowledge of the subject. Other well-informed officials in Washington see no reason why the default of these payments should affect the situation so far as the United States is concerned. Most of the Mexican government securities are held in Europe.

It is not believed in Washington that the passing of the interest payment can be taken to mean that the collapse of the Huerta government is necessarily at hand. According to the most recent figures the customs receipt at the ports held by Huerta are in excess of $100,000,000 a month. It is assumed that Huerta intends to spend this money on his army and governmental salaries at the expense of the foreign creditors.

PULMOTOR SAVES YOUTH

Nine Hours' Use of Artificial Respirator Restores Boy Overcome by Gas.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 15.—Nine hours of the pulmotor, pronounced the most remarkable test ever given the artificial respirator, has saved the life of Samuel Phillips, a young artist, who is slowly recovering in the City hospital from the effects of gas poisoning.

The boy was found, apparently dead in his room by his mother. He had fallen asleep while finishing some sketches and accidentally upset a small gas heater. The frantic mother telephoned a physician, who called Dr. Edward Coyt, in charge of the relief squad of the Atlantic City Gas company. Coyt responded with the pulmotor immediately. He worked for four hours over the youth and was about to quit when he detected a very faint pulse.

Renewing his efforts, Coyt finally brought Phillips back to consciousness, and hospital physicians pronounced the artist out of danger.

Thieves Strip Church.

Rome, Jan. 15.—St. Anthony's church at Ferrara was stripped of practically everything of value by thieves. The articles stolen include votive offerings and gems. The hair of Santa Beatrice d'Este, which was preserved in a gold reliquary, was found scattered on the floor.

Calls Foreign Beef "Fresh."

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—In an opinion given to Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foust, Deputy Attorney General W. M. Hargest holds that beef brought from South America in refrigerated ships is not to be classed as cold storage beef, but as fresh, and may be sold in this state as such.

HUNTING APACHES

BY DWIGHT NORWOOD

Indian fighting is a thing of the past now, but we must remember that it was only about a generation ago that General Custer and his men were surrounded and massacred by redskins. There is an old ordnance sergeant at one of the Atlantic coast forts who was a youngster in the ranks of the regular army in those days and passed a good many years on the plains, where Indian fighting was the order of the day. He tells yarns about his experiences, some of them bloodcurdling, some simply amazing. Here is one of the latter class:

The Apaches were the worst varmints one had to deal with, and we were more afraid of them than any other savages. They were more treacherous, more merciless and practiced more deceptive methods than any other tribe with which I had the honor to exchange shots. When we were hunting them we were more sure that they weren't hunting us. Any man going to a spring for water, dropping out of the ranks to cool off or in any wise going off by himself was liable to be taken in, and so noiselessly that the rest of the command wouldn't know anything about it until he was missed and some one would be sent back to find him dead and scalped.

One time when we were after a party of Apaches, not knowing when they would turn on us in the middle of the night, or, more likely, just before dawn, we made preparations that would let us know of their coming. Our commander had taken the precaution to bring along some barbed wire fencing, and after getting into camp, before turning in under our blankets, we fenced ourselves in. Of course we didn't expect to keep off the red devils with a wire fence, especially when we weren't helping the latter with lead. All we hoped for was a few moments' delay, long enough, you know, to grab our rifles and get on our feet.

We bivouacked one evening on a hillside so situated that we couldn't very well be taken on the flank, and instead of running the wire around us we stretched it before us, so that any force coming up the hill must pass over it. Though the moon was in the third quarter, the night, being cloudy, was quite dark. The Apaches were so shy that in order to get a warning of their coming we hung all the tin plates, tin cans—anything, in fact, that would rattle—on the wire.

I was listening then for all I was worth for the slightest sound that would indicate the presence of an enemy.

I had to take it out in listening, for I couldn't see anything unless it was above the sky line. The moon passed a thin space in the clouds just as I heard a tinkle away down at the other end of the fence. Peering in that direction I saw something white. I didn't wish to make a guy of myself by firing at nothing, and I didn't wish to take any chances with Apaches about. I heard another tinkle and saw the white thing move. It seemed to be on the outer side of the fence, but in another moment it was on the inside. I had brought my rifle to my shoulder at the first sound, and, seeing that whatever it was had got in behind the fence, I let drive.

I could hear a prolonged rattle of accoutrements as the line of sleeping men arose, and their rifles sounded like a modern machine gun. The field officers were hurrying about, and the company officers formed their men. In a few moments they were all standing in line ready for another volley, but the second volley was never fired. The clouds broke away from before the moon so that we could see what was going on before us, and we found there was nothing going on. No sign of an Apache appeared.

The order was given to break ranks, and within ten minutes the men were down on the ground again, most of them snoring loudly enough to keep a sentry from hearing any more tinkling tin plates. I was relieved soon after and joined the chorus.

The next morning our commander called up the guard of the night before and asked us who had fired the warning shot and at what he had fired. I confessed that I was the man and had fired at something white down at the other end of the wire fence.

"Something white," he exclaimed contemptuously. "Did you ever know a redskin to wear anything white? No Indian, no Apache certainly, would wear anything that could be seen on a dark night."

I was dismissed with no other remark than this, if it could be considered a reprimand, and went off to a campfire where my men were cooking breakfast.

"What were you men on guard firing at last night?" asked one of the men.

"Apaches," I said, putting on a bold front. "The moment I fired they skeddaddled down the hill under cover of the darkness."

"How could you see them in the dark?"

This stumped me, but further remark was unnecessary since the mystery was solved by Sergeant Connor.

"What he was firing at," he said, "was a boiled shirt of mine that I washed after we bivouacked last night and hung on the wire fence to dry. And just look at it," he added, producing the article: "It's riddled!"

"Serves you right," said I, "for hanging your shirt on a means of defense."

BUYING TOYS

FOR NEXT CHRISTMAS

Do you know that the toy buyers for the big stores are already on their way to Europe to buy the toys for next Christmas?

Incidentally they are keeping their weather eyes open for features to brighten up their next Christmas advertising.

This is an example of how merchandisers and advertisers plan "long ahead."

It shows why you always see a new note in advertising. Advertising is the voice of business and business is invariably a Progressive. It does not wait for things to happen. It makes things happen.

The reader of advertising is always just a little bit ahead of the times.

Handling Hogs in Winter.

The successful hog growers use a little system in handling their fall and winter hogs the same as they do when handling other valuable stock. If the farmer wants his pigs to grow as fast as possible he will probably give them a mixture of 95 per cent corn chop and 5 per cent tankage the first thing in the morning. He will then slop the herd along about 9 or 10 o'clock. He will give the herd just enough feed at both of these times so they will clean it up and be slightly anxious for more. Alfalfa hay will be in evidence at all times. The hogs will be slopped again about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon and given chop and tankage again the last thing in the evening. This is one method of feeding. There are others.

Wet Clear Through.

A little girl was playing at the table with her cup of water. Her father took the cup from her and in so doing accidentally spilled some of the water on her. "There," she cried, as she left the table indignantly, you wet me clear to my feelings!"

"Only One Best"

Gettysburg People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Gettysburg who suffer with weak kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing testimony of Gettysburg people. Here's a case:

Mrs. M. A. Gilbert, 128 W. Middle St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have had no need for Doan's Kidney Pills since I used and publicly recommended them some years ago. They are the best kidney remedy to use. My health was all run down, owing to disordered kidneys. I didn't have much of an appetite and couldn't sleep well. My back and head ached and I had dizzy spells and chills. Whenever I caught cold, I felt worse. One of my relatives advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got some at the People's Drug Store. It didn't take this remedy long to remove the trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

She Wanted a Coffee Calculator.

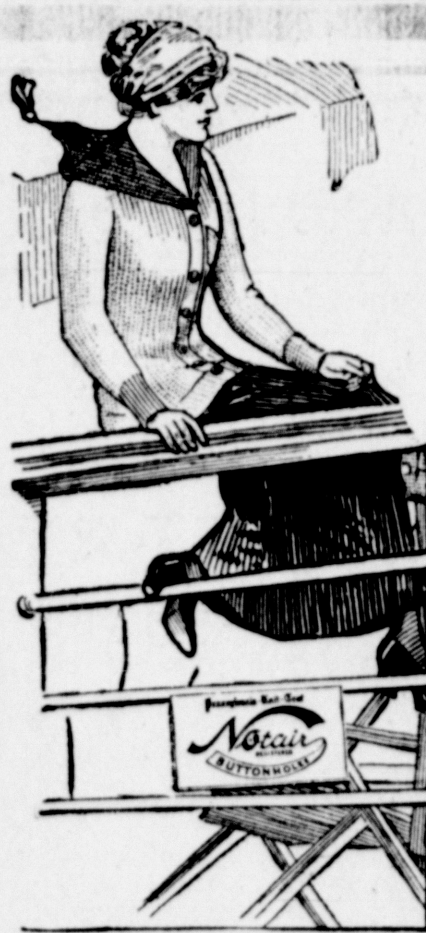

In a South side home there is a cockney cook with an unusual facility for the misuse of words. One morning this week she said to her mistress: "Ow much would one of those coffee calculators cost?" "Why," asked the mistress soberly, "are you percolating on getting one?"—Kansas City Star.

Human Eyesight Diminishing.

A well-known English doctor recently made the statement that only about 30 per cent. of the present population of Great Britain has normal eyesight, and if things go on as they are going now, he foresees a time when practically the whole of the British nation will be a nation in spectacles.

Hawk Probably "Rattled."

A hawk attacked a woman teacher recently in Peñolfoel council school, Llanelly, Wales. The bird flew through the open window and clinging to the woman's blouse was only dislodged with difficulty when one of the male teachers came to the rescue. The bird is now in a cage in one of the classrooms.
